Everyone Matters Pulse Survey – Message from Anne MacPherson

As we now enter into the final week of the Everyone Matters Pulse Survey, I would like to thank everyone who has already replied, we now have over 15,819 responses. I also want to encourage everyone who has not taken the opportunity to complete the survey, to please do so before the closing date.

Your opinion does matter to us, and I have valued the previous outcomes received, which have helped us to consider specific for our Staff Health Strategy in particular to help initiatives to support your mental and physical health at work. Your feedback has also enabled us to shape our Culture Framework and is now helping us to finalise our Workforce Strategy.

This survey is slightly different, with more questions specifically about how you are feeling, and between the Pulse Survey and our Mental Health Check In, it is vital at this time that we understand not only how you are feeling but also what can we do to support you at work, in particular in your work setting and with your team.

I appreciate that completing the survey can often be time consuming, this one is no more than 10 minutes and I can assure you that your return does matter.

If you are completing your survey on paper, please note that questions relating to your overall wellbeing and personal experience of work during the COVID period are mandatory and should be completed for the response to count.

If you change your mind on any response, you can clearly cross out one tick and replace with a tick at the new answer.

Health and Safety Training – Protect yourself, your colleagues, patients and visitors.
